Raytown Summer Lunch Ministry

In July, God's Hunger Warriors will begin gathering every weekday for six weeks at RCC to pack and deliver lunches to over 600 Raytown children who might otherwise not eat at all. Our congregation has been richly blessed by this ministry and we hope you will join our interfaith and intergenerational group this summer.

How can YOU be a blessing?

(Throughout the month of June, sign-up sheets will be available for you to choose how you would like to volunteer with this most glorious Outreach Ministry to support the children of the Raytown Community.)

- Volunteer on our re-packaging day on Wednesday, June 28th, 9am - noon
- Volunteer to be a sandwich maker/lunch packer/re-packager throughout the summer
- Volunteer to work in the kitchen to make preparations for the days' planned meals
- Volunteer to drive or ride along to make deliveries at area apartment complexes
  - Donate baggies and/or napkins during our Baggie Bonanza in June
- Support the program financially to help us serve over 15,000 lunches over the course of the summer

Values: What's Really Important

Dr. Bill Tenny-Brittian

When it comes to life, what's really important to you?

- Good Health?
- Financial Stability?
- Your Work?
- Good Food?
- Religion/Faith Practices?
- Entertainment?
- _____ (Fill in the blank)

When I ask this in small groups, I find most people claim things like health, financial stability, and their faith as a few of their top values. Once everyone in the group has shared, I ask them to review their appointment calendars for the previous month and to log in to their bank or credit card statements for the same period. Then I invite them to look at how they spent their time and their money over the past four weeks. Most of the participants are surprised at what they discover. Why? Because you can tell what someone actually values by how they invest their time and their money.

There's a difference between idealized and realized values. Idealized values are those things we think are important ... or that we think should be important. But idealized values rarely drive our behaviors. On the other hand, it's our day-to-day behaviors that reveal what our realized values are, that is, those things that are actually important to us. The key is to recognize the difference between our idealized values and the ones our behaviors reveal and then to begin modifying our behaviors to align with our ideals.

There are personal values, there are societal values, and there are corporate values. All of them tend to suffer the same issue ... there are idealized values (e.g., equality for all) and there are realized values (equality for those who are in the majority and carry the power). And, of course, every congregation has shared values ... again, both idealized and realized.

One of the tasks of the Visionary Task Force was to discern and codify the Raytown Christian Church's DNA. A congregation's DNA is a metaphor for the genetic code that defines the local church. A congregation's DNA comprises the mission, values, shared beliefs, and vision.

A couple months ago, the church's mission got an update to "Helping people say 'Yes!' to Jesus" (based on the Great Commission). This month, the Task Force worked on identifying our core values. The values they chose represent a combination of realized and idealized values. Each chosen value already has a place in the church, but each of them will require some ongoing emphasis in order for them to help us reach our potential.

The Task Force used an acrostic to help make it easier for us to remember the values, because idealized values only become realized when they're kept in the forefront of our minds and practices. The acrostic chosen was WORD, which works out nicely since as members of the Disciples Of Christ denomination, we historically put a high value on the Word of God.

Welcome: Everyone is welcome at Raytown Christian Church. No matter who they are, where they've been, or what they've done, we open our arms with a smile as we spread the love of Jesus Christ by our witness and by our hospitality.

Ordination: Through our baptism, every one of us are called and ordained by God into the ministry. Raytown Christian Church is committed to helping each person discover and implementing their calling, their God-given gifts, and their passion for the sake of the church and the blessing of our community.

Relevance: The Gospel and the Word are timeless, but how we communicate cannot be. Raytown Christian Church is committed to sharing the Good News of Jesus Christ so that even someone who's never heard of Christianity can hear and relate to the Gospel message of hope.

Discipleship: The Church exists to make disciples, and everything we do at Raytown Christian Church furthers that end. Making disciples isn't just a slogan ... it's the foundation for everything we do.

When you look at our budget and our calendar, we can already see that each of these is in some ways realized.

We take Welcoming seriously with our outstanding Greeters and Hosts. With the ways we welcome people into our midst. By how we share our resources, including our building with others.

Recommended Daily Reading List

If you want to expand your horizons, consider adding one chapter of Proverbs each day ... there are 30 chapters, so you could read one a day for a month. And there are plenty of God's Life-Instructions there for you, so rereading it regularly is a great practice.

And while you're at it, you might want to try adding a Psalm into your daily plan. There are 150 of them, so you won't run out too soon! (Personally, I like reading the Psalms through the lens of The Message version ... it makes them come alive when I read them in the language we use every day!)

Don't forget, you can learn how to make the most out of your Bible reading by checking out the How to Read the Bible videos at RaytownCC.org/bible. Start by watching the first two and then watching another once a week until you've watched all ten.

We take Ordination seriously as well. First, we're busy doing baptisms. As I write this, there are two more baptisms on the calendar for Sunday and another being scheduled for an upcoming date. Second, our Discovery Lunch is helping people discover their God-given gifts and passions for the work of the ministry. And third, we have a strong core of ministers who serve as elders, deacons, care team ministers, board members, office volunteers, greeters, ushers, hosts, teachers, kitchen leaders, and even some staff who are so committed they work in leadership without a check.

We're working hard at being Relevant in how we communicate. As we design worship and teaching activities, we take into account the learning styles and needs of our audiences. This helps us select the tools, the technologies, the style, and even the vocabulary so that those we're committed to reaching have the best opportunity to actually hear the Gospel in ways they can comprehend and respond.

And we take Discipleship seriously. From the adoption of the Directions Discipleship Ministry (more on that in the future), to the emphasis on Bible reading and prayer, we are committed to helping every participant at RCC become the most effective follower of Jesus they can possibly be.

Is there more to do? Of course. As we see more people with little church experience, we'll be challenged to more deeply embed and support the core values with our behaviors. Guests to our worship today often come with little knowledge of the Bible, sacred church music, or how the church operates. How we welcome these people into our midst, how we ensure we share the Gospel relevantly, how we step up to do the work of the church, and how we help them, as well as one another, become even more effective as disciples will take an ongoing investment of our resources.

As we move forward as a congregation into the future, I want to encourage you to keep an eye on our calendar and on our budget. Are we spending our time and our resources in ways that reflect these four core values (five, if you count the primacy of the WORD as a value!)? Or do our behaviors reflect values that are antithetic to what we say is important? And if so ... what are we going to do about that?
